GROUND BROKEN FOR LAUGHLIN POTTERY NO. 8

One Hundred Men are On Job at Newell.

WILL SPEED WORK
Sub-contract Bids Will Be Opened Today.

Ground for the $1,500,000 plant of the Homer Laughlin China company, at Newell, was broken today by the H. K. Ferguson company, Cleveland.

Weekly Payroll $8,000.

More than 100 men, including carpenters, laborers, and surveyors' helpers, were employed this morning. This force will be increased to 300 within a week, according to A. J. Hollingshead, district superintendent. The company's payroll will amount to $8,000 or $10,000 weekly while the plant is being erected, Hollingshead said.

Bids for sub-contracts, such as rough excavating, roof and sheet metal work, steel ash and glazing and sewerage, will be received today and tomorrow. Two steam shovels will be used in the rough grading of 25,000 cubic yards.

Several carloads of equipment are to arrive in Newell this week. Two truckloads of steel wheel barrows were brought there Saturday from Cleveland.

Employ Local Labor.

In keeping with the policy of the Ferguson company, local labor will be employed and local materials used in the erection of the new plant so far as possible. The Newell Lumber company has been given a contract for the immediate needs of the builders.

The new plant will connect with the No. 6 and 7 shops, will have approximately 400,000 square feet of floor space, and the company is building about 1,200 feet in length, will be of the sawtooth design, requiring 1,000 tons of structural steel, 100,000 square feet of steel sash and one and one quarter millions feet of lumber. Concrete estimates have been placed at approximately 10,000 cubic yards.

Field Engineers Arrive.

The plant is to be completed within 70 working days. There will be no Sunday work on the new building. Hollingshead will probably remain on the job until the work has been organized. C. F. Thomas, purchasing agent, and two field engineers, two carpenter foremen and two labor foremen have arrived from Cleveland to supervise the work.

The new Laughlin pottery, to be equipped with five tunnel kilns, will be ready for operation early in the fall. It will offer employment to about 500 men and women.

PRESIDENT HOOVER agrees with Mr. Mellon that an income earned by hard work should be taxed less heavily than incomes unearned, inherited, or based on accumulations of wealth.

The President knows, by long experience that, as they work, men wear out.

He makes the point, wisely, that to tax the worker as you tax the parasite is "a penalty on thrift."

THE BEST experts are "getting closer to an agreement on the amounts Germany must pay." The sum of $120,000,000 in gold every year is suggested instead of $600,000,000 a year.

Certain payments by Germany would continue for 27 years, others for 35 years.

IT IS suggested by the experts that matters be adjusted, in friendly fashion by "cutting the claims of the United States." That will not surprise you. "Uncle Shylock" is used to that.

THE first report of the Southern Pacific, with Paul Shoup as president, shows remarkable gains in earnings, increased to $10.71 a share, against $9.67 in 1927.

With good management, an enormous trans-continental traffic and a monopoly of California's freight and passenger traffic for 1,000 miles north and south, the Southern Pacific is bound to prosper.

BUT all railroads are interested in the drop of $2,887,000 in Southern Pacific's passenger traffic. This drop, affecting all roads, is due to motor bus and automobile transportation. So far as automobiles are concerned, the problem is permanent, and flying will make it worse.

AKRON BARBER LEAPS 250 FEET TO HIS DEATH

Police Arrest Two Men Loitering Near Body.

NOTES ARE FOUND
Robert Brooks, 26, Jumps From Street Viaduct.

AKRON, O., April 8.—Two men were held by police here today in connection with the death of Robert Brooks, 26, a barber, who was killed when he jumped from the 250-foot Main street viaduct here early today.

The body was found shortly after midnight and though indications point to self-destruction, authorities are investigating the possibility of foul play. The two who were taken into custody were near the body when it was discovered, police say.

Notes found in the dead man's clothing were addressed to "Dessie," who, it is said, is Brooks' divorced wife. One note said, "I hope to see you in 10 minutes. I told me to do this," and another, addressed to the same woman said the suicide would leave her free to marry another man.

MID-WEST STORMS KILL 16 PERSONS

CHICAGO, April 8.—(INS.)—The known list of dead standing at 16, storms in the middle west caused millions of dollars in damage over the weekend.

Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Michigan and Indiana felt the fury of the high winds and miniature tornadoes which struck the middle west region.

The tail-end of the disturbance struck Chicago today and northern Indiana. The tornado demolished houses and was directly responsible for igniting 4,000 gallons of gasoline in the plant of an oil concern in Hammond, Ind.

The heat wave, which accompanied the high winds, ended today with temperatures slightly above freezing.

Two Boys, Boating, Find Body of Woman in River

Murder is Suspected in Inquiry at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, O., Apr. 8.—Police of two counties today united their efforts in attempts to establish the identity of a woman, whose body was taken from the Little Miami river between Milford and Camp Dennison yesterday afternoon.

Bruises across the woman's face and behind her right ear gave indications that she may have been the victim of a murder, though authorities explained that these marks could have been inflicted when the body floated against rocks or other obstructions in the stream.

OHIO PRISON BREAK LEADER IS SHOT DOWN

James A. Walton Held In Hospital at Philadelphia.

WOUNDED IN LEG

Fugitive Loses Gun Battle With Police in Park.

COLUMBUS, O., April 8.—Shot down in a gun battle with Philadelphia police late Saturday night, William S. Healey, 30, known in Ohio as James A. Walton, Cleveland, robber, alleged Philadelphia murderer, and "ring leader" in the celebrated five-man escape from the Ohio state penitentiary here Feb. 19, is in a police ward in a Philadelphia hospital today, according to officials of the state institution here.

Walton suffered a bullet wound in the leg in the gun battle, which started in a small Philadelphia park and ended several squares away.

According to the advices reaching penitentiary officials, Walton and a companion were loitering in the park when five detectives happened to walk into the place. As Walton recognized the men, he yelled to his companion, and started to flee. The detectives pursued. When the officers fired shots into the air, and called their commands to halt, Walton turned, drew two revolvers and started firing. The detectives ducked behind a convenient hedge and returned the fire. Walton turned and ran.

Nation-Wide Hunt Ends.

After a chase of several squares in which more than 50 shots were fired, the plain-clothes men cornered him. Like a wolf at bay, Walton turned and again sent a fusillade of bullets at the officers. They ducked behind a building and with well-aimed shots, felled Walton.

The convict's capture ended a nationwide police hunt and today found all of the men who escaped in the daring break, in custody by police.

Pat McDermott, "kid-gunner" and "trigger man" in the Don Mellett assassination at Canton; William H. Young, Marietta murderer; Michael Jacko, Cleveland slayer; Joe Russo, Cleveland robber; and Walton, effected their liberty Feb. 19, when they sawed their way from three cells in the penitentiary, and made their way through a ventilating shaft across the roof of the warden's home, and down a rope ladder to the outside of the walls.

HANOVER MAN IS FINED $500

Louis Loubshner, Hanover township man, was fined $500 and costs by Justice of the Peace M. K. Zimmerman, yesterday, following his arrest upon a charge of the illegal possession of intoxicating liquors. He was committed to jail.

A large quantity of home brew and two pints of whiskey were confiscated when Sheriff Barlow and Deputies Lewis, Harhoff, Elliott and Eads visited his home Saturday night, the raiders said.

Two others were to face Probate Judge Liddle on liquor charges today. Angelo Lewis, West Point miner, in whose home the sheriff and his deputies said they found a still, was at liberty under $500 bond pending a hearing. One gallon of liquor is alleged to have been found at the home of Michael Mountain at Locust Grove, near Lisbon.

15 FLIGHTS MADE FROM AIRPORT

Fifteen excursion flights were made by G. W. Lytle, Pittsburgh airplane pilot, from the Chamber of Commerce airport in Madison township yesterday afternoon.

Lytle, who has been conducting a flying school in the south, recently came to Pittsburgh for a visit. He flew here yesterday afternoon and was pressed into service by the field sponsors.

He will return here Friday for weekend flights.

PENN AVENUE MEETING TONIGHT

Pennsylvania avenue property owners will meet in the basement of the St. Ann's Catholic church, East End, at 8 o'clock tonight to hear the report of the committee named about three weeks ago to investigate the proposed improvement of the street between the Garfield school and the Dry Run bridge.

The committee, which conferred with the streets committee of city council last week, is made up of the Rev. Father John L. Maurer, J. R. Chambers, Charles Huston, Walter McClelland and Lawrence Bloor. Council street committee members are Altman, Ferguson and Lindell.

Members of the council committee said that the Pennsylvania avenue committee would confer with the entire municipal legislative body following tonight's session.

Four Airmen Still Missing.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., April 8.—(INS.)—Alarm was expressed today over the fate of Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith, Capt. Charles Ulm and their two companions, who have been missing since their plane, the Southern Cross, was forced down in the wilderness near Wyndham a week ago Saturday.

SINGER BRINGS $250,000 SUIT AGAINST KAHN

There was a time no so long ago when Miss Rosalind Morini didn't have enough words of praise for Otto Kahn, financier and patron of arts, but something seems to have changed her mind. Some difference of opinion as to what Kahn said of her voice is causing her to bring civil action against him for $250,000.

Charred Bodies of Victims Found at Damascus, Va.

BLAZE CHECKED
Crew of 50 Wins Long Battle Against Flames.

DAMASCUS, Va., April 8.—(INS.)—After battling a gigantic forest fire for hours, a crew of 50 men early today came upon the charred bodies of Robert Cornett, 44, and Robert Keys, 23, both of Damascus.

The men were a part of another squad that was fighting the blaze in the government forest reserve near here. They were cut off from their comrades and were trapped in the flames.

The fire was brought under control after causing considerable damage.

MRS. W. J. SCHARF DIES IN HOME

Mrs. Gladys Belle Scharf, 28, wife of William J. Scharf, died following a short illness yesterday in her home, 1255 Pennsylvania avenue, East End. Mrs. Scharf was a member of St. Ann's Catholic church and Protected Home Circle.

Besides her husband, she leaves two sons, William and Regis; her mother, Mrs. Edith Allen, Lorain; one brother, George Allison, East Liverpool, and a sister, Mrs. Daniel Lattanzio, Lorain.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning in St. Ann's church, in charge of the Rev. Father J. L. Mauer. Burial will be made in St. Aloysius cemetery.

EIGHT HOLDUPS OCCUR IN TOLEDO

TOLEDO, O., April 8.—Two men were wounded, and eight others were victims of bandits in as many holdups here over the weekend, according to a checkup today.

J. Brown, was cut about the stomach and hands when he resisted the efforts of a negro to rob him. His wounds are not serious.

Tony Semczak, 40, was beaten into unconsciousness by three men who attempted to rob him. The men fled, without robbing the man.

Loot of approximately $239.75 obtained by thugs in other holdups.

WARNING GIVEN ON WASTE PAPER

Persons who litter the streets with paper and other waste matter will be prosecuted for violation of a city ordinance, Service Safety Director Moore warned today.

The service department swept the downtown streets Saturday, and a few hours later washed them with hose. Before evening the gutters were strewn with paper and other refuse.

Newsboys in the downtown district will be required to dispose of wrappers in which their papers are shipped. Waste paper boxes are to be placed on the streets.

THREE FREMONT MEN DROWNED

Fishermen Believed Lost In Sandusky Bay Storm.

SANDUSKY, O., April 8.—Three Fremont men today were believed to have drowned in Sandusky bay yesterday when the small boat in which they were fishing was caught in a heavy windstorm.

C. J. Nostine, grocery store proprietor and a member of the Fremont civil service commission; Earl Fought, 27, a mail carrier; and Carl Graves, 29, a salesman, set out yesterday morning in a small boat powered by an outboard motor. They were running trout lines off shore.

A 50-mile gale was raging over the lake at noon and fishing craft came ashore. The three Fremont men were missed and a search for them was begun when the wind abated.

Federal coast guard craft from Marblehead and a number of other boats resumed the search this morning after being forced to abandon it because of darkness last night.

FIRE DAMAGES KILNSHED ROOF

Roof of the kilnshed at the Riverside Knob company's plant, South Market street, was damaged by fire, caused by an overheated kiln, at 5:15 o'clock Saturday night.

Fire caused by a short circuit damaged the automobile of F. C. Miller in Broadway yesterday afternoon. Three alarms, caused by grass and dump fires, were also received by the fire department over the week end.

The club members will adjourn at 12:30 o'clock and will be taken on a bus ride through the city.

Maniac Is Sought in Death Of Woman in Automobile

New York Mother of Two Found Strangled.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Search for a maniac was in progress today after the body of a young woman identified as Mrs. Linda Boggs, a former floor maid at the Park Central Hotel, was found in an abandoned automobile in West Thirty-Sixth street. She had been strangled to death.

The woman was the mother of two children who are in St. Michael's home. Her husband, James Begins, an automobile washer, had left her several months ago.

The police were not overlooking the theory that she may have been "taken for a ride" because she knew something about the slaying of Arnold Rothstein, Broadway gambler, who was shot and killed under mysterious circumstances in room 348 of the Park Central.

THREE INJURED IN WEEK-END AUTO CRASHES

Chester Potter, Internally Hurt, in City Hospital.

GIRL, 12, VICTIM

Lisbon Man Taken To His Home After Accident.

Three persons were injured in automobile accidents in Columbiana county yesterday.

They are:

John Barrow, Jr., 23, Chester, W. Va., potter, possible internal injuries; removed to City hospital.

Otto Albrecht, Lisbon, right leg injured; taken to his home.

Barrow was a passenger in a new coupe with rumble seat, owned and driven by Ralph Charlton, Second street, Newell, W. Va., which crashed into a curb on the Lincoln highway near the city limits at 6 o'clock last night. Charlton and two other passengers in the car were not hurt. The machine which overturned, was badly damaged.

Albrecht and the Nelson girl were injured when the automobile driven by the latter's father, W. S. Nelson, and a car operated by Albrecht crashed in Chestnut street, Lisbon, at 7 o'clock last night.

Mrs. Nelson and three other children escaped injury. Both cars were overturned. Albrecht was removed to his home where he received medical attention. The girl was taken to the Salem hospital for an X-ray examination and treatment of her injury.

One Fatality in Toledo.

TOLEDO, O., April 8.—(INS.)—The body of Richard Wilson, 47, formerly of Sullivan, Ind., who was struck and fatally injured by an automobile here Saturday night, will be sent to Sullivan for burial. The driver of the automobile that struck Wilson was exonerated by police.

One Killed at Springfield.

SPRINGFIELD, O., April 8.—(INS.)—An attempt by P. J. Hopkins, 45, of Dayton, to pass a string of cars on the National highway, west of here, which was crowded with Sunday afternoon traffic, today had cost his life and injuries to three companions.

In trying to pass the cars, Hopkins swerved his auto suddenly to escape being struck by machines approaching from the other direction. The car skidded, overturned and caught fire. Hopkins sustained a fractured skull and was dead by the time witnesses reached the overturned vehicle and pulled his body from the flaming debris.

FIRE MARSHAL GILL ISSUES 30-DAY EDICT

State Official Calls for Action After Inspection.

SEES CITY HALL

Broadway-St. Clair Avenue Structure Condemned.

State Fire Marshal Ray R. Gill, of Columbus, today ordered the Central fire station, Broadway and St. Clair avenue, razed within 30 days.

Telegrams to Moore

The razing order followed a visit to East Liverpool by Gill Saturday, during which he inspected the fire station and the city hall building at Third and Market streets.

At noon today Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore received this telegram:

"Mailing today a 30-day tear-down order on your fire department building. Please give this your immediate attention."

Building Held Fire Menace

Gill indicated to Moore and Mayor Benedum before leaving here Saturday that the fire station building in St. Clair avenue would be condemned on the grounds that it was a fire menace and was "unfit" to house members of the department.

East Liverpool voters last November rejected a proposed $10,000 bond issue proposal to erect a new fire station. The proposal was given a majority of the votes cast but failed because of the 55 percent requirement.

Temporary quarters must be leased for the fire department if the fire marshal's orders are complied with, Moore said. The order will be presented to council at tonight's meeting.

BARNEY THOMAS IS FINED $100

Barney Thomas, arrested at the Youngstown & Ohio River railroad freight station Saturday night, charged with the illegal possession of intoxicating liquors, was fined $100 and costs when he faced Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today.

Ben Kinney, arrested Saturday for operating an automobile while intoxicated, was fined $250 and his license suspended for 30 days.

Harry Zimmerman and Louis Pollit, charged with disorderly conduct by fighting in Second street apartment, were fined $5 and costs each. Richard Smith, Chester, forfeited $2 for a parking violation in the diamond.

RETIRED PASTOR KILLS HIS WIFE

TERRELL, Tex., April 8.—Rev. Jim Roberts, retired pastor, today killed his invalid wife with an ax. The woman's head was almost severed from the body.

Roberts was locked in jail pending investigation of the case. It was thought he became suddenly insane. He had been in ill health for some time.

KENTUCKY MAN SLAIN IN RAID

LEXINGTON, Mo., April 8.—(INS.)—An inquest will be held today in the death of Fred Harrington, 49, killed in a dry raid Saturday night by a constable and his deputy, who obtained a pint of liquor. The slaying was at Harrington's home near Dover, O.

Harrington was shot by Eugene Seitz, a deputy constable, after Harrington attacked Clarence Potts, the constable.

Take that dirty ring out of your bathtub!

AFTER a bath, hard water leaves a dirty ring. The soap combines with the hardness and makes scum. The scum collects dirt. The dirty ring sticks to the sides of the bathtub. It has to be scrubbed off.

But soften the water with Melo and there isn't any dirty ring on your bathtub. Melo makes water delightfully soft and a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. It saves from 1/2 to 2/3 the amount ordinarily used. It makes soap more effective. Use Melo wherever you want soft water. Get it at your grocer's.

EVADES SURGEON'S KNIFE BY TAKING 'ORANGE ROOT'

Mrs. Bryner, Told Operation Only Thing Could Save Her! Wins Great Battle Over "Ulceration of Stomach" By Taking 7 Bottles of Famous "Orange Root"—Gained 2 Pounds in One Week.

Mrs. Fred Bryner, of 2518 Clement Ave., Parkersburg, thought all was lost when told her case was a mystery and that it was necessary to use the X-ray to locate her trouble, which would probably end in an operation. Mrs. Bryner is a highly respected lady of this city and very well known. Mrs. Bryner says:

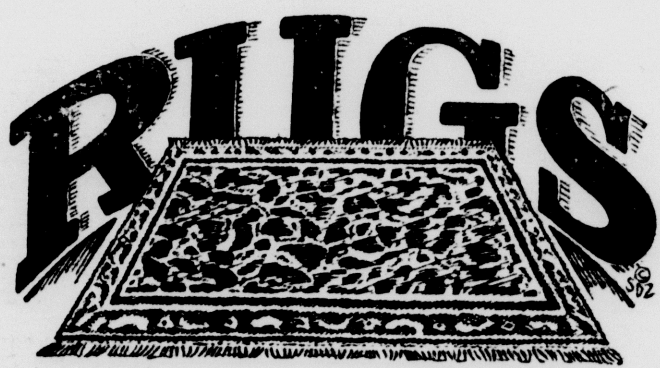

"I am now recovering from an awful 'mystery' stomach trouble, thanks to this grand ORANGE ROOT. I took various medicines for more than eight weeks for what I was told was ulceration of the stomach; NOTHING DID ME ANY GOOD. I couldn't eat a thing and lost weight every day; my stomach was so sore I couldn't even touch it with my hands; I was told an operation was necessary, but being averse to going to the hospital, I tried Orange Root as a last resort, now since taking this splendid tonic, the dreadful soreness in my stomach is all gone. I have a fine appetite, can eat anything and relish it and weigh more now than I have in years; believe me, I surely am thankful for I have been saved the expense and danger of an operation."

PLANS ARE OUTLINED FOR COUNTY ROAD AND BRIDGE IMPROVEMENTS

County Surveyor Expects Contractors on Jobs Not Later Than Next Monday.

LISBON, O., April 8.—With the advent of spring weather, construction work on Columbiana county roads is expected to begin not later than next Monday, County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk said today.

Removal of a portion of an old building at the north end of the new bridge over Beaver creek at Lisbon will be ordered by the county commissioners so that a permanent surface can be placed on this span by H. C. Armstrong. The owner of this property recently filed a $10,000 suit in common pleas court, alleging damages as a result of the construction of the span.

A survey is now being made by the county to connect the Leetonia-Washingtonville road in the village of Washingtonville. This improvement, long sought by residents of Washingtonville, forms a direct outlet with the Cox highway from Leetonia.

Engineers are now at work on a survey at Leetonia to determine cost of straightening or deepening the channel of a creek near there. Every year there is an overflow which causes considerable damage to property there and along the road extending from Leetonia to Franklin Square.

The Allison Harris company, of East Liverpool will begin work on the Clark-Youngstown road this week. Paving on this section was completed last year.

This company will pour concrete on the Rogers-Negley road as soon as weather permits.

Bids for the construction of a bridge at Negley on the East Palestine-East Liverpool road will be opened probably the latter part of this month. Bids for the span at Fredericktown will be received early in May.

John Hill of Ada, O., will finish the bridge spanning Little Yellow creek at Wellsville about May 1, according to the present rate of construction.

Concrete railings are now being poured, and the second track of the Steinhenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction Co., is being laid across the bridge. As soon as these rails have been placed, concrete will be poured for the base for the pavement.

When the concrete bridge spanning the middle fork was constructed, the north approach slab was omitted on account of the settling of a fill. This slab will be built by Hill. This work will be done in sections, in order that through traffic on the Youngstown-East Liverpool road can be maintained.

Real Estate Transfers.

Real estate transfers have been filed for record at Lisbon as follows:

Bertha M. Binsley to Mary Gottschling, 1.50 acres in section 15, Salem township, $1.

William Shidler and others to Ralph Conrad, 3 acres in section 18, Knox township, $800.

Kate Crawford to Carl V. Kenty and wife, lot 6 in Springer's addition, Lisbon, $1.

E. R. Merritt and wife to Pearl L. Greenmeyer, one acre in section 6, Knox township, $1.

Frank Ardell to William F. Ardell, lot 6288 in Maplewood addition, East Liverpool, $5.

John Gol and wife to Okay J. Eddy, lot 978 in Salem Heights addition, Salem, $1.

Joseph Reforcso and wife to Enfrasia Cicola, lot 329 in Salem Heights addition, Salem, $1.

Florence Everstine to Charles Burris, lot 2389 LaCroft addition, Liverpool township, $50.

Ella M. Arnold and others to Harvey W. Kirchner and wife, lots 4308-9 in Puritan Land Company addition, East Liverpool, $5.

Charles A. Poole and wife to Raymond J. Parker and wife, lot 5022 in East Liverpool Land Company addition, East Liverpool, $5.

Emerida Dubbs and others to John D. Watson, lot 4348 in Oakland Land company, East Liverpool, $5.

Oriel D. Taylor and wife to William Tucker and others, lot 2621 in Bridley & Burton addition, East Liverpool, $5.

Frederick Perkins and wife to Blanche Williams, lot 104 in McGaffick's addition, Sallineville, $700.

Ethel S. Robins and others to Frank Frantum and others, lots 15 and 16 in East Rochester, $1.

Suit for $398.53 Filed.

John G. Sherriff, executor of the estate of Harry T. Sawyer, through his counsel, L. B. Harris, of Salem, has filed an action in common pleas court against Samuel R. Levinson, of 30 East Main street, Salem, to recover a claim of $398.53, said to be due on an account.

TWO COUPLES WED, TWO LICENSED

Francis Griffith, a farmer, R. F. D. No. 1, Leetonia, and Miss Caroline H. Peters, daughter of Emil F. Peters, of Leetonia, were married at Lisbon by the Rev. C. N. Church of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Joseph Candler of Power Point, a motorman, and Mrs. Gladys Franklin, also of Power Point, were married by the Rev. J. M. Cameron of the United Presbyterian church at Lisbon.

Walter Rutski and Mrs. Nellie Mazure, both of Lisbon, a widow, will be married by the Rev. Father Brown at St. George's Catholic church.

Washington S. Isner of Youngstown and Miss Lena Riesen of Columbiana, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Riesen, have been licensed to wed.

BAN GARBAGE ON PUBLIC ROADS

Trustees of Center township have prohibited the dumping of garbage and rubbish along public highways. Signs have been posted on all township roads. The action, which follows complaints filed with the board, is backed by a ruling of the county board of health.

MRS. W. J. WARK GIVEN DIVORCE

On the grounds of gross neglect of duty, Mrs. Rine E. Wark has been divorced from William J. Wark. A decree for alimony is to be incorporated in the journal entry. The custody of a minor child has been awarded the plaintiff.

The divorce action filed Jan. 8 last by Sidney Wilson against his wife, Mrs. Ruth Wilson, had been dismissed for want of prosecution at the cost of the plaintiff.

Defendant to Answer Damage Suit. In the $5,000 accident damage claim filed by Eugene D. Leipper against Louis Schilling, the court has granted leave to the defendant to file his answer and cross petition at once.

MONDAY, APRIL 8, 1929.

"Play Ball!"

Premature deaths of many grandmothers will be announced, many business men will have "important conferences" and scores of boys will be searching for convenient knotholes in eight cities one week from tomorrow, for the 1929 major league baseball season will be ushered in.

Probably 250,000 or 300,000 men, women and children will pass through the turnstiles in New York, St. Louis, Washington, Cleveland, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and Cincinnati to hear the umpire's familiar order, "Play ball!" And thousands of other dyed-in-the-wool fans will be watching scoreboards or ticker tapes or "listening in" on the radio in hundreds of other cities, all rooting for their favorites.

Pomp and ceremony will mark the official opening of the National and American league races, for governors, mayors and other public servants will preside. And possibly President Hoover, following the custom of former President Coolidge, will attend the opening in the national capital, where the popular Walter Johnson will make his debut as a major league manager.

There is something about baseball that stirs the blood of every man, woman and child who loves the game. And despite the following that football, basketball and other fall and winter sports have, there is no doubt that the diamond game is the national pastime. And it will continue to set the pace in popularity providing it keeps its head above suspicion and the magnates continue to frown upon the gambling element which often has attempted to obtain a foothold upon the game.

Top Speed Unprofitable

As far back as 1893 American railroad trains were capable of traveling at more than 100 miles an hour. In 1901, over a five-mile stretch, one engineer set a record of 120 miles and hour—two miles a minute. Yet today the country's fastest scheduled train travels only 66 miles an hour on an average, and an average of 45 miles an hour is considered a good maximum for a main-line train over a long run.

These figures would make it appear that instead of progressing, railroads have slowed down in the last 20 years, while motor cars and aeroplanes have been making this the speed age. But such is not the case, points out A. W. Somerville, analyzing the changes in recent railroad operation in the April issue of World's Work.

The fact is that while top-speed schedules have been reduced, main-line trains everywhere are transporting passengers from 10 to 20 miles an hour faster than a generation back, and with a vastly greater degree of safety, he finds.

It is the "Safety First" consideration that has slowed down, for example, the fliers that once made the New York-Chicago run in 18 hours and that now take 20 hours for the trip.

"Safety demanded the all-steel car," points out Mr. Somerville, who shows that the average passenger train of today weighs five times as much as that of the early days of the century. "The net result was heavier equipment and heavier power. Safety requires arrivals and departures. And from the other side of the fence efficient operation demands strict adherence to timetables and constant observance of safety rules. As a by-product you have an increased cost."

Today it is worth an engineer's job to run ahead of his scheduled time, even for a short distance, and watches of the train crews are inspected primarily not to keep them from being slow but to prevent them from being fast, points out the World's Work writer.

The roads have discovered that a reputation for punctuality for the entire system pays far more than the reputation of a single stunt train, since they can carry more passengers on more trains and at a greater average speed over the same system of tracks.

Moreover, the railroads have been restrained from a greater increase of average speed by legislation which shackled their development before the war and by a thin margin of profits over operating costs since. The wear and tear on equipment at higher speeds make the stepping up of schedules unprofitable, but not impossible, under present conditions, says Mr. Somerville, adding that "if 60-miles an hour schedules for 55 miles or more will pay a profit, then the railroads will arrange to humor the sufferers from 'velocititis.'"

Harding Highway Tragedy

The Harding highway tragedy of last week, in which four young women school teachers met death, should carry a lesson ever to be in mind by all those responsible for the development of our highway systems.

It should make manifest that too small a proportion of the $25,000,000 the state is expending annually for the construction, improvement and maintenance of our highway systems, to say nothing of the highway expenditures of lesser political divisions, is devoted to making them as safe as circumstances will permit.

In comparatively recent weeks, three cars have gone off the roadway at the bridge approach, three miles east of Caledonia, Marion county, at which the four young women were held within their car and drowned. State authorities had arranged to look this dangerous approach over, previous to the horror of last week, with a view to taking action to safeguard traffic at that point.

How infinitely superior to a system that requires such a sacrifice of precious lives to safeguard such danger points would be a system which would erect safeguards as the work of road construction or improvement progresses.

While it is true that there always is danger in traveling in the night, Ohio, by improving highway systems, invites the public to make use of them and by inference at least, holds out to the public unfamiliar with them that such highways are reasonably safe. No doubt the four young women in the Marion county accident assumed this as they went on to their destruction.

There should be persistent demand in every county of the state, that traffic be given adequate protection at such danger points. Let us have safe roadways, even if at the expense of less mileage.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 8.—Self preservation is the first law of life and it is natural that the first practical use to which radio should be put would be the promotion of safety. In making an up-to-date study of radio progress, the American Academy of Political and Social Science has included the safety uses of radio placing C. B. Joffile, physicist of the United States bureau of standards, in charge of that branch of the investigation. Joffile's report shows in how many different ways modern radio has been employed to preserve life and property.

Installation of radio on ships received its first big impulse following the Titanic disaster. Principal nations appointed delegates to attend a conference on safety of life at sea which met in London. This conference made recommendations which have resulted in the equipment of all passenger-carrying ships and many others with radio.

Indeed, radio's first general use—long before entertainment broadcasting was dreamed of—was in relation to shipping. This sort of communication employs no loud speakers nor is the spoken word used. Code signals transmitted by radio impulses rather than over wires are used, the operators being skilled in the same manner as are land telegraphers.

At first all marine radio was on a common frequency—500 kilocycles or 600 meters. In those days, not so very long ago, the air was not filled with transatlantic telephone messages, program broadcasting, commercial dispatches, and the like. The ether waited in silence to receive the relatively rare messages. They were nearly all the same dramatic message, the world-wide signal of distress.

This wave length still holds although radio development has resulted in a constant stream of other messages being exchanged between ships and between ships and the shore. However, by international agreement, all radio-equipped ships must listen in on 500 kilocycles a specified length of time during every hour of the 24 for distress signals. As soon as the signal is heard, the radio operator then seeks to tune in on the specific wave length of the ship in distress to obtain more detailed information as to position in the sea, condition of the vessel, and other pertinent facts which will facilitate a rescue.

There is well advanced a new device which will do away with the necessity of listening in on the 500 kilocycle frequency. It is an automatic radio signal device designed to act much in the same manner as a burglar alarm. The device still is in the experimental stage but Joffile reports substantial progress. It consists of a system of bells aboard all ships which will ring only in response to a distress signal. Any other sort of radio message can reach them without setting them off but when the SOS comes through the air the alarm automatically sounds. Whereupon the radio operator immediately proceeds to find the ship in distress and communicate directly with it.

The bureau of lighthouses of the United States department of commerce has installed a large number of radio beacons. This is a radio device which gives signals to ships warning them off dangerous coasts and shoals and also aids them in ascertaining position and direction. Radio compasses and radio beacons constitute the first method at all sure for guiding ships in fog. It is impossible to estimate how much loss of life and property already has been averted by use of these devices.

The United States navy has established a string of coastal transmitting stations for the purpose of giving ships at sea their position. Primarily this service was intended for naval ships but it is equally available to merchant vessels. The International Radio Convention has set aside 375 kilocycles (800 meters) for this radio service.

Another safety use of the radio which sprang directly from the Titanic disaster is the notification by radio of the presence in the ship lanes of icebergs. After the disaster the United States coast guard established the iceberg patrol. Every year cutters cruise about the steamship lanes looking for icebergs which annually float down from the Arctic on the Labrador current. Every berg is kept close track of and all ships in its vicinity are kept constantly advised of its drift. Similarly, the position of dangerous reefs is radioed to ships in whose path they float.

An interesting oddity of radio use for safety purposes at sea is in connection with medical treatment. Many of the smaller freighters do not carry ship's doctors. There are many instances in which such a ship has radioed to a passing liner the condition of some seaman who has fallen ill and received diagnosis and medical advice through the air.

The International Radio convention also has set aside a wave length in Europe for the broadcasting of information concerning criminals. Descriptions of individuals wanted are broadcast and other pertinent information.

Questions And Answers

By Frederic J. Haskin.

This newspaper puts at your disposal a corps of trained researchers in Washington who will answer questions for you. They have access to the government departments, the libraries, museums, galleries, and public buildings, and to the numerous associations which maintain headquarters in the nation's capital. If they can be of assistance to you, write your question plainly, and send with two cents in coin or stamps to the East Liverpool Review Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. What is the first bright star out every night in the West? O. H.

A. It is the planet Venus. It is at its greatest brilliancy, outshining all celestial objects except the sun and moon.

Q. Is the quartz for radio crystals found in this country? T. I.

A. It has never been found in sufficient quantity to be a commercial commodity. The rock used for this purpose is imported from Brazil and Madagascar.

Q. How large is the site of the Ibero-American Exposition? L. E. N.

A. For the location of the Ibero-American Exposition, Seville has provided a park and garden tract of 2400 acres on the banks of the Guadalquivir river. This land has been under cultivation for years and is one of the beauty spots of the world.

Q. What is forage painting used in bookbinding? A. G. N.

A. This is a corruption of the word fore edge used to describe the delicate painting or decorations applied to the extreme front edges of the book. When the book was closed only blotches or masses of colors showed but when the leaves of the book were partially spread delicate tracery, artistic designs, and sometimes elaborate pictures were revealed. Samuel Meame, bookbinder to Charles II. of England, is credited with originating this form of decoration.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Diary of a modern Peep: Up and came letters from Bluch, the clown in London and from an irritated gentleman who dubbed me a square head, a good one on him, for it is the precise shape of an egg. And Major Bowes telephoned an offer to become a Zovietone monologist.

What professional gentlemen call "pedestrian psychology" is an interesting study in crowded centers. There is a lade-shah shop on the avenue with a heavy patronage for years but its backers decided to swell the dividends. It moved directly across the street and business doubled. A certain type of store will not prosper on certain sides of the street and prosper on the other. There are stores that fall on corner sites and others—like the cigar store—that rarely prosper in any other location.

Nothing is so indicative of the Bowery's decay than the scrofulous fronted old Chinese theater. At night an orange splash of light from feeble gas jets may be seen from the sidewalk but otherwise it has the abandoned dreariness of a brewery. Inside the depths of gloom and dirt, however, the Chinese drama carries on. To aliens the plays seem acted in a slipshod fashion. Sometimes an actor quies the stage to hop out into the audience to chat with a friend. Patrons talk out loud during tense scenes and nobody appears interested. It is more a meeting place for the lonely, longing for their own people. During intermissions hawkers go through the aisles selling spiced apricots and

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

Deafness is a miserable trouble. It is a constant annoyance. It interferes with the happiness and usefulness of the victim.

It is said that total deafness is worse than total blindness. Perhaps the blind man would dispute this, but there can be no doubt that any degree of deafness is disagreeable, to say the least.

There are several causes for deafness. Proceeding from the outside, the first cause is an obstruction in the external canal of the ear. This is very likely to be an accumulation of wax.

The canal is not a straight tube of uniform diameter. It has a shape like an hourglass. That is, it is narrower in the middle than at each end. In the middle it is quite restricted.

At the inside end, at the bottom of the canal, is the drum membrane. This is stretched across the canal and guards the middle ear from the entrance of insects, dirt, wax and other foreign matter.

The external ear is lined with skin. This possesses sweat glands and oil glands, just as the skin does everywhere else. In addition, it has some large and active glands, called sebaceous glands. They supply the wax, which in some persons is too freely manufactured.

The wax has an important function to perform. It is a sticky, "smelly" material, intended to be offensive, as it is to most insects, or to catch their feet, as sticky fly paper does, if they venture too far into the ear canal.

The wax serves, too, to catch and hold the dust, which otherwise might get down against the drum. So, you see, the wax serves a useful purpose, unless it gathers too freely, or is pushed down the canal.

Nature has arranged splendidly to keep the wax from collecting in the ear. The large wax glands, of which I spoke, are situated outside the narrow part of the canal.

Then, Nature has provided for a renewal of the skin cells from within outward. As the new cells are formed, they push old ones outward. That movement will carry the wax along, too. If left alone, there will be no dropping of this substance into the deep part of the canal, beyond the constriction.

Once Overs

By J. J. Mundy.

What Do You Friends Think of You? Don't forget that practically all your friends flatter you.

They tell you what they think you want to hear.

If you want a true value of yourself, an honest criticism, go to the one who has no desire to be friendly to you.

Or anger your friend to the point where he will tell you the truth.

Many persons go through life with a studied effort never to do anything which will anger another.

Usually such persons have never had a true analysis of themselves.

You may think that practically every one considers you as near perfect as humans can expect to be.

It might be a great shock to you to know just what these persons you count as your friends really think of you when they size you up occasionally.

It might be a very good thing to know.

It might be worth while antagonizing a friend or two for the sake of finding out better just where you stand.

As conditions exist you are satisfied with yourself and make no effort to change, while perhaps many changes may be needed.

And they may be so important to your future success that they are vital to you.

MISS LAURA GAYMAN, BETHANY TEACHER, AND EUGENE PUGH WED

A PRETTY WEDDING was solemnized Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Fort Steuben hotel, Steubenville, when Miss Helen Laura Gayman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gayman of Zellersville, Pa., became the bride of Eugene Pugh, son of the Rev. and Mrs. C. B. Pugh of Colliers, W. Va., formerly of Newell, W. Va.

The ring ceremony was performed by the bridegroom's father. The attendants were Miss Mary Bark of Mary Anna, Pa., and Robert Yoders of Clarksville, Pa.

The bride was gowned in French blue georgette, with blonde slippers and hat. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses and daffodils. She is a graduate of the Mary Anna, Pa., high school, the California, Pa., normal school, and Brum's Conservatory of Music, Pittsburgh. She has been a teacher in the high school at Bethany, W. Va.

The bridegroom is employed by the Goodyear Rubber company in Akron. A wedding dinner was served in the home of the bridegroom's parents. Places were arranged for 14 guests. Mrs. Pugh was assisted in serving by her sister, Mrs. Victor Bressous of this city. Spring flowers were used in the appointments.

Mr. and Mrs. Pugh left Saturday for a wedding trip to Washington, D. C. They will be at home to friends after April 15, at 65 Brookside avenue, Akron.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Victor Bressous of this city; Mrs. G. W. Reed, Chester, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Johnson and Miss Mary Bar of Mary Anna, Pa.; and Mrs. G. H. Pollock of Zellersville, Pa.

Nervous Run Down Condition Responds to Owa-Ton-Na

Local Lady Regains 5 Pounds of Lost Weight in Short Time.

Mrs. A. Rainmond

Case after case among men and women and children report the remarkable success attained by the use of this fine old Indian Remedy, Owa-Ton-Na. These results are not obtained by the use of harmful doping drugs but by nature's own roots, herbs, barks and berries.

Another interesting local case which has just been brought to our attention is that of Mrs. A. Rainmond, Washington street, Newell, W. Va. Mrs. Rainmond says: "For sometime my health has been getting poor. I couldn't quite understand what made me seem to lose so much weight. My nerves were getting in a terrible condition and it seems I was just generally run down."

"I continually had to fight constipation which of course, showed that my liver was not acting the way it should. I just had to force myself to eat and when I did eat, food wouldn't seem to do me any good. Dizzy spells and black spots before my eyes used to scare me as it seemed that nothing that I took done me much good."
"Backaches made me miserable and these seemed to be getting worse all the time. I certainly bless the day when Owa-Ton-Na, that Indian Herb Medicine, was recommended to me. I could hardly believe that it would do all for me that I was told it would do, but you can just take my word for it, it has done that and more too. My bowels act regularly, pimples that I had always been bothered with are disappearing and I certainly have a wonderful appetite."
"My backaches are gone and once again I get up in the morning feeling as though I really wanted to live. But best of all, I have regained five pounds and that shows that my system must be in a whole lot better condition than it has been for a long time. I want to recommend Owa-Ton-Na to all who suffer as I am sure it will do all that is claimed for it. Although I have taken it for but a short time, it has made a marvelous change in my condition."

Thousands of people all over this great country report similar results from the use of Owa-Ton-Na. Why not try it yourself today? Why suffer when a trivial bottle of this harmless remedy may show you the road to new found health. Call today and have a good heart to heart talk with the laboratory representative who is now located at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 East Sixth street East Liverpool, Ohio. Owa-Ton-Na can also be obtained at Carnahan's East End Drug Store and Newell, W. Va. store.—Adv.

Amusements

CHILD PLAYERS ON CERAMIC BILL

Child players are intriguing in screen productions. The sympathies of audiences always go out to the youthful performers because of their natural expressions, their innocence and the spontaneity with which they react to suggestion. Three of the most versatile of the younger players in Hollywood portray different roles in the Columbia production, "The Younger Generation" which is the attraction at the Ceramic theater tonight. They are Edward Mohar, who delineates Morris as a boy; Leon Ramon who depicts the child Eddie; and Virginia Marshall as the girl Birdie. Later in the production Ricardo Cortez, Rex Lease and Line Barquette continue the adventures of the three.

In the early sequences in which the children delineate the incidents in the lives of the trio, a tenement house on the East Side takes fire starting a severe conflagration in which the children are trapped. It is a result of a fight among the children while they are left alone. Birdie steals a cake baked for Morris and gives it to her sweetheart, Eddie, who lives across the airshaft. Morris returns, discovers what Birdie has done and starts to punish his sister. This is more than Eddie can stand. Although weak from an attack of the measles Eddie crosses the airshaft on his mother's ironing board at a height of several stories, enters the room and attacks Morris. In the fight a chair is thrown onto the stove and the fire starts.

The youngsters put realism into their action. They fight as though they were in earnest and when the fire starts their excitement becomes tragic. Many human interest touches have been introduced by Director Frank Capra.

Jean Hersholt has the stellar role in the production. Rosa Rosanova plays opposite the star. An all star cast supports the two.

"QUEEN OF NIGHT CLUBS" ON SCREEN

Texas Guinan, who for the last ten years has been one of Broadway's outstanding personalities is now seen and heard in "Queen of the Night Clubs." Warner Bros. latest all-talking Vitaphone production which comes to the American theater today.

Beneath the color and rayette of Broadway is a phase of life that is little known to the world at large and "Queen of the Night Clubs" brings to the talking screen this little known side of New York's Great White Way, and presents with deep understanding the story of those people whose business it is to entertain—shows the hearts that beat under the tinsel.

Texas Guinan, star of "Queen of the Night Clubs," is portraying her real self—the famous night club hostess and the toast of thousands.

Miss Guinan is supported by a cast which includes Lila Lee, Eddie Foy Jr., Jack Norworth, John Davidson, John Miljan, William Davidson, Arthur Housman, Jimmie Phillips, Lee Shumway and others. Bryan Foy directed this all-talking picture which is an original story by Murray Roth and Addison Burkhardt.

"CLEAR DECKS" STATE FEATURE

A rollicking, carefree comedy that guarantees to keep the audience in an uproar from the time it starts until its final "fade out" is the offering at the State theater today.

It is "Clear the Decks," Reginald Denny's latest Universal farce comedy. By all advance reports it is his greatest comedy offering. The action of the story centers around various hilarious situations on board ship. It was necessary to take the entire company for a two-weeks' cruise on the Pacific in making the picture. Besides Denny and an unusually brilliant supporting cast, the entire production force, which in itself numbers more than 60 persons, and a special corps of "pug" men, made the cruise on one of the local coastal liners.

The story is taken from the novel "When the Devil Was Sick," by E. J. Rath.

The cast appearing in support of the Universal comedy star includes such well-known screen players as Olive Hasbrouck, Lucien Littlefield, Otis Harlan, Colette Merton and Robert Anderson.

PICTURE PATTERN

DRAPE LENDS SMARTNESS.
THE STYLE in Vionnet lines in lovely silk crepe printed in unusual shades of green is utterly simple and graceful, with draped side that lends new smartness. The applied yoke of bodice is decidedly chic made of a contrasting color, or fabric. You'll appear smart any time of the day in this slender semi-sports model, that is also fashionable made of Paquin red crepe, de chine, black crepe satin, navy blue faille silk crepe or chartreuse green georgette crepe.

THE PATTERN No. 3412 is designed in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust, and takes but 3 1/8 yards of 40-inch material to make it for the 36 inch size. It is illustrated in Picture Lessons to show every detail in the construction, which saves considerable time, of which the small sketches give you an idea.

In ordering pattern clip the design shown or order by number, and be sure to specify the size you want. Write your name and address plainly, enclosing 15 cents and mail to Fashion Department, East Liverpool Review. From 7 to 10 days are required for delivery of patterns.

NEW FASHION BOOK containing all the Spring styles is 15 cents, but may be obtained for 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

Two Held For Court
In Delinquency Case

Mrs. Pope Rody and Ben Asbury Post Bonds of $200; Hill Dismissed; Mrs. Ella Jones Gets Hearing Thursday.

WELLSVILLE, O., April 8.—Charged with contributing to the delinquency of the 14-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Cole, colored, Buckeye avenue, Mrs. Pope Rody, Fourteenth street, and Ben Asbury, Fourteenth and Commerce sts., were bound over to the grand jury under bonds of $20 each at a hearing Saturday night before Acting Mayor Clyde Baker. Each furnished bond. Charges against Ernest Hill of contributing to the girl's delinquency, as well as possession of intoxicating liquor, were dismissed on account of lack of evidence. THIS General Electric is the only refrigerator built entirely of steel! Think what that means! It is sturdy and durable beyond anything that you ever believed a refrigerator could be.

This small-family model freezes a generous supply of ice . . . and in a shorter time. One tray freezes in two hours, both trays in four. It uses less current because the cabinet is so efficient that cold does not leak out and heat does not creep in.

And, of course, it has the exclusive advantage of simplified mechanism, enclosed in an hermetically sealed steel casing and mounted on top. This leaves the greatest area available for food storage and makes possible the up-on-legs model which is so easy to clean under.

In operation it is extremely quiet. It never needs oiling. You just plug it into any convenient outlet. See all its unique features yourself. Come in today. And ask about the very convenient plan on which it can be bought.

DR. G. B. WINROD CLOSES MEET OF DEFENDERS

Kansas Editor Speaks In First U. P. Church.

CROWDS ATTEND

Rev. A. H. O'Brien Expresses Thanks for Co-operation.

Two large crowds packed the First United Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon and last night at the closing session of the eight-day convention of the Defenders of the Christian Faith.

Dr. Gerald B. Conrad, Wichita, Kansas, editor-pastor, spoke at both services. His afternoon address dealt with evolution in the schools, while he spoke at night on "Mussolini" and "The Second Coming of Christ."

Appreciation of the efforts of the committee which arranged the conference, and thanks to the Rev. L. J. Davidson, pastor, and members of the First United Presbyterian church, for the use of the building, and to the East Liverpool Review for publicity given the meetings were expressed by the Rev. A. H. O'Brien at the closing meeting.

Afternoon Rally.
The afternoon invocation was made by the Rev. Dr. F. I. Dean, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, and that of the evening by Phillip Sider, a member of the Defenders party. Dr. Winrod declared fanaticism all view as earmarks of fanaticism all references to the second coming of the Christ.

"The Bible has more to say by twice the space to the second than the first coming of the Christ," he said.

Restitution of Palestine to the Jews, the glorification of the church and tribulation to the unbelieving world, he said, were outstanding departures to occur immediately proceeding and during this much awaited event.

He quoted Dr. James Gray, of Chicago as saying that all of the biblical prophecies have now been so fulfilled as to warrant the legitimate return of Christ. "It is the consensus that He will do so about the time that the Jews again became a nation," he said.

Decrying all efforts at world peace, he predicted that there will never be a warless league of nations because, he pointed out, that prophecy declared that ten nations would be formed in Central Europe, former domain of the ancient Roman empire.

Refers to Mussolini.
He told of the arrest of the Rev. George Blomgren, of California, who was here recently as the advance man of the Defenders' party, while attempting to get a glimpse of Mussolini while on a tour of the country about two years ago.

"But for the intervention of a merchant from whom he had that morning made purchases his life, it is believed, might ultimately have been forfeited," he disclosed.

The grip of Mussolini in Italy, his temper at times, and his methods were mentioned as evidences revealing characteristics fitting to precede his second coming.

Trains Guns on Evolution.
Evolution inevitably leads to atheism, its tendency being in that direction, said Dr. Winrod yesterday afternoon when he discussed the question: "Shall Evolution Be Taught in Our Grade and High Schools?"

"There lies the danger to America," he said, since the doctrine at its best is but a theory and incapable of being proved.

"If the evolution theory be a true one there was no fall of man. And sin could not be accounted for except upon the basis of man's fall. If there is no sin, but simply an animal instinct which devotes of the theory aver, then the atonement by the blood of the Christ thus falls to nothing as do the other basic truths of Christianity."

He held that the acceptance of the evolution theory destroyed the accuracy of the statements of Genesis and made it false. The dignity of a man's origin by creation as worked out in God's laboratory was done away with and man was not as scripturally stated "fearfully and wonderfully made."

All atheists, he held, believe in evolution and he affirmed "there was no such Christian animal as a religious atheist."

Russia in Moral Wreckage.
Russia, like Israel, followed spiritualism and both have come down in moral wreckage, Dr. Winrod said Saturday night when he discussed "Rasputin, the Holy Devil of Russia."

"We have evolved Satan out of our thinking in the last twenty centuries, but we have not evolved his existence out of the world," he said.

"Rasputin was one of the most wicked of men who was able by reason of his great physical strength, plus the dazzling power of his eyes, to control of the czar and czarina. His every wish finally had fruition until he was the real power behind the Russian empire."

Details of the strange hold of this Siberian peasant on the royal household and the people, in turn, were given.

From it all Russia has become one of the most demanding areas in the world's mission field. Dr. Winrod concluded. "Already there is being taken initial activities to put the Bible back in the country by means of a Christian who stands high in Soviet officialdom."

On Saturday afternoon Phillip Sider, a realistic demonstration of the Passover feast.

He was born May 2, 1895, at Kittanning, Pa., a son of James and Elizabeth Stivason. Three years later the family moved to East Liverpool.

Captain Stivason enlisted in the army during the world war, serving as chief mechanic in the Eighty-first field artillery at Chickamauga Park, Ga., and later in France. He was discharged Feb. 19, 1919, at Camp Knox, Ky.

Stivason was married to Miss Carrie Boston in 1923. He is a member of Private Eddy post, No. 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the First Methodist Protestant church. He is a Republican in politics.

He is the father of one daughter, Marilyn Ruth, 5. He lives at 934 Fairview street.

FIVE passengers, in a small car, can cross the continent for $40 worth of gasoline and oil. Railroads can't compete with that. But, on their smooth rights of way, free of stops with no rough roads or brakes wearing out costly rubber tires, railroads should compete destructively with motor buses. Some railroad man will find a way to do it.

BRITAIN AND America discuss land ownership in the Antarctic. Commander Byrd, for this country, Wilkins and others for Britain, have claimed land near the South Pole.

There will be no quarrel about it, presumably. More than ten thousand years will pass before the slow motion of the poles makes Arctic and Antarctic lands valuable.

WE are only 12,000 years from the late stone age. Ten thousand years hence the human race may be "melted" into one big family. In any case, it will probably have outgrown international quarrelling.

OIL, WELLS, or gold mines, with increasing commercial accessibility due to flying, might cause trouble. The Rockefeller already have "brought in" a good well in the Arctic Circle. It would cost $50,000,000 to run a pipe line to it.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE'S statement in the current issue of Cosmopolitan magazine that a president may be spoiled by constant addition, as a reason for two terms only, is new.

Man's inability to withstand success, and the praise that goes with it, explains many failures.

BESIDES it takes the average man about four years to get over the excitement of being president and "the greatest man in the world," the second term is usually the only hard-working term except for hard work done to get a re-nomination.

PERHAPS a better plan would be ONE term of eight years with never a second. But, on that basis, the president would have no reason at all for considering public opinion, which could not help or hurt him.

He might begin immediately serving corporations that chose him, instead of postponing full service for four years. It is hard to decide.

CHINA needs new and better railroads and will finance them here. And China will NOT pay 15 or 20 per cent interest. That kind of usury is reserved for American citizens who allow themselves to be told by their Federal Reserve what they may and may not borrow, and are robbed by licensed usurers, when they decline to obey orders.

CHINA will borrow on railroads that may or may not be torn up or blown up by Chinese rebellions. Americans borrow on American stock exchange securities, with a wide margin of safety. That they should pay an interest rate three times as great as China will pay is a good joke on those Americans. They are, as Northcliffe used to say, "A very docile people."

THIS question is addressed with becoming reverence to the high financial "best minds," including the Federal Reserve. You constantly express a desire that our industrial and railroad stocks should be widely held. You are anxious that the citizens should have "a stake in the country's prosperity." You think ownership of stocks makes the owners conservative, makes him finance secure in his possessions. Why do you allow money lenders to treat those that invest in stocks, as a pawnbroker would be ashamed to treat a man borrowing on an old overcoat?

THE venerable Abbe Joseph Belle of Lille, and a young French student were killed, and half a dozen injured, by an old German explosive shell that had been buried in the ground for 12 years.

They lighted a fire above the hole in which the shell was hidden.

OLD hatreds come to life and explode dangerously, after being buried more than twice 20 years. And that is one reason why this nation, with its enormous domestic wealth, and well-developed foreign enemies and enemies, should be well protected.

THE body of Ambassador Herrick is returning to America on the newest, swiftest cruiser of the French navy. The coffin draped with French and American flags lies in a chapel guarded by French sailors.

CINCINNATI, O., April 8.—(INS.)—Conrad Meyer, 53, died from injuries sustained when he was struck by a "hit-skip" motorist here, according to hospital attaches today.

Two Dead at Ironton.
IRONTON, O., April 8.—(INS.)—Fred Hill, 35, and Mrs. Minnie Pennington, 56, both of Pine Grove, Ohio, were killed and two other persons were injured when the automobile in which they were riding plumed over a 25-foot embankment on the New Castle pike on the outskirts of the city here. All were pinned under the automobile. Those injured are Charles Reading, 38, and Cattie Gilmore, 29, both of Ironton. Hill and Mrs. Pennington sustained broken necks.

Motorcyclist Dies After Crash.
ALLIANCE, April 8.—Robert Taylor, 18, of Alliance died in the Alliance City hospital of injuries received Saturday night when his motorcycle crashed into a parked automobile owned by Miss Elizabeth Mills of Sebring. Police say the automobile was without lights at the time of the accident. Coroner E. M. Hays of Maingrove county and coroner T. C. McQuate of Stark county are investigating.

Child Crushed to Death.
MARIETTA, O., April 8.—A four-year-old child was killed and four other persons, including the child's parents were seriously injured, when the car in which they were riding rolled into a ravine on March Run hill here early today.

The child, Dorothy June Jordan, was crushed to death and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jordan suffered severe injuries. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Deering, who were also in the automobile, were badly hurt.

The car was parked at the top of the hill, when the brakes slipped and it crashed forward into the ravine.

Fugitive is Shot

Their escape proved short-lived, however.

McDermott and Jacko were captured late the same night in a stone quarry tower, north of the city. They were in a half frozen condition. Their tracks in the snow led to their place of concealment.

Three hours later, Russo, serving a ten-to-25 year term for robbery, was taken into custody when cornered near Shadesville, south of here. He and Young had broken into a store at Hartman farm, a small farming community, and stolen some clothes and money. This gave county police a clue and in a short time they had Russo. He was returned to the institution here.

The next night, Young was captured, near the same spot where Russo had been taken. He was in a half starved and frozen condition, having lain hidden in the snow all day.

One Guard Dismissed.
All four were placed in solitary confinement at the institution, and spent nearly a month in the "black hole" with bread and water their only food.

As a result of their escape, one penitentiary guard was dismissed.

Warden P. E. Thomas, of the penitentiary, declared a few days after the escape, "we'll get Walton sooner or later. 'He'll turn up somewhere.' The warden says that in every escape and in nine times out of ten he is right, in nine times out of ten he is right, very few of the prisoners who 'go

OHIO ASSEMBLY VOTES RECESS UNTIL APRIL 16

Four-cent Gasoline Tax Bill Awaits Cooper O. K.

EFFECTIVE SOON

Legislators Pass 60 Bills During Final Session.

By C. H. HADDOX, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

COLUMBUS, O., April 8.—Ohio legislators today are on a 16-day recess. A few solons will attend a brief session here the afternoon of April 16 to witness the signing of bills passed Saturday night and early Sunday morning, and to participate in the adoption of a joint resolution providing for sine die adjournment.

It was nearly 2 o'clock Sunday morning when the legislature completed its work of bill passing. The senate and house journals, however, will show that the solons began their recess at noon Saturday.

The solons passed 60 bills during the final day's session. Shortly before recessing, the senate concurred in the action of the house in passing the Sullivan-Bostwick bill, increasing the state gasoline tax to four cents, and the house accepted most of the senate amendments to the major appropriation measures.

Votes Are Expected.
Gov. Myers A. Cooper is expected to sign the Sullivan-Bostwick bill within a few days and the one-cent gas tax increase will be effective within three months.

One of the final acts of the senate was that of indefinitely postponing consideration of a message from Governor Cooper announcing the governor's veto of the Milner-McCormick bill, which sought to authorize state universities and colleges to issue and sell bonds for the purpose of constructing dormitories.

The governor is expected to veto a number of bills. It was not believed that the solons would attempt to pass any such measures over the governor's veto.

The present legislature passed 223 bills compared with 169 at the session two years ago. Aside from the session two years ago, the number of bills passed this session was the smallest during the last 16 years. Excepting the 1917 session which ended March 23, the present session was the shortest in 12 years.

Major Enactments.

ALARM CLOCK SILLY, PROF. SAYS

NEW YORK, April 8.—(INS.)—The alarm clock, with its little brothers, the cold shower and the morning exercise ritual, lost considerable prestige today when Dr. Jess F. Williams, professor of physical education at Teachers college, declared that all three unpopular pastimes were "silly, superstitious and artificial."

"The alarm clock as an institution should be abolished. Cold showers and morning setting up exercises are a distinct shock to the nervous system," he relates in a report issued for students at the college.

Professor Williams offers a "get up by nature" program, with provisions for early retiring as a substitute.

MEXICAN HELD IN THEFT ASKS TRIAL DELAY TO LEARN ENGLISH

By M. F. Dacey.

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.) DENVER—There are several "new ones for the book" in recent news developments in the Rocky Mountain region.

Judge E. V. Holland was momentarily stumped by the unusual request of Jacinto Carranza, 23, claiming to be a nephew of the former president of Mexico.

Carranza was charged with grand larceny in connection with the theft of three pink dresses from a downtown ladies' apparel store. He is unable to speak English, but through an interpreter had informed police they charge that his "sweetie" was fond of pink dresses, so he proceeded to secure some for her.

But Judge Holland's problem was over the demand by Carranza, at his preliminary arraignment, that the state educate him, at least to the extent of teaching him to speak English so he would know what his trial was all about.

Carranza's trial was set for an early date, and the prosecuting attorney informed the defendant, through an interpreter, that he would probably be sent to "some kind of school" after the trial was over.

Lo, the poor Indian, is going into the courts up in Wyoming in order to secure his "rights" to the use of the peyote plant. The Wyoming legislature recently prohibited the sale of the plant, on the ground that it was used for the manufacture of a habit-forming drug.

But representatives of the Indians dispute this, and declare that the white man, by banning the peyote plant, is interfering with religious ceremonies of many Indians. The plant, they claim, is chewed in communion services of the Native American church (an Indian church) in Montana and Wyoming.

"We want the peyote plant to use in the sacraments of the church, the same as the white man uses wine," is the redman's plaint.

Up in Fort Collins, Horace G. Shaw received a "dose of his own medicine."

Shaw, former president of the Colorado association of Real Estate Dealers, was found guilty of fraud in district court, being convicted under a law which he sponsored himself in the state legislature.

And a new college has sprung up in Denver—the "Skyscraper College," they call it.

The curriculum is confined to one study and those matriculating are young women between 18 and 24. They are undergoing an intensive course of study in the new telephone dial system. Denver will go on the dial system within a few months. After the hello girls perfect themselves in the study, they will demonstrate it before the various civic clubs so that the public may be educated to dialing for numbers instead of calling "central."

The college derives its name from the fact that the school is held atop the new Telephone building, Denver's largest skyscraper.

Beautiful lawns and flowers are produced by the helpful effects of warm sun, rain and proper fertilization. Spring is the time to supply growing things those feeding elements that produce healthy rugged growth—food which prepares for summer-long beauty.

Your most careful plans for beautifying your home surroundings may be frustrated by failure to aid Nature with a correct fertilizer such as SACCO plant food.

Sprinkle a small amount of this clean odorless plant food on your lawn and note the quick results. Scatter it also around your shrubs and work it into your flower beds and vegetable garden. SACCO is unfailingly effective in bringing new life to run-down lawns, gardens, trees and shrubbery. It makes things grow.

PERHAPS YOU'LL NEED PLUMBER

So Get Acquainted With
G. D. Burns
Now.

When you need a plumber—call G. D. Burns. And when you DO need a plumber, you need him so darned quickly that it behooves you, if you desire to provide full protection to your property, to get acquainted with your plumber before his services become an absolute necessity.

So, if you have plumbing which you think is going to need attention one of these days, why not get after it now before something springs a leak, or bursts outright?

Frequently a leaky pipe is not the only damage. There are other things to be considered. Your wall paper or home furnishings, possibly, may suffer irreparable damage.

Burns is equipped to handle virtually anything in the plumbing line. His phone is 1494-R and he's located at 531 Mulberry street in the East End.

ANDREWS MAKES HAULING SAFE

Thoroughly Grounded
In Five Points of Business.

There are tricks to all trades and the fellow who knows the most tricks and the best ones usually gets the business.

Vance Andrews storage and trucking company believes that it has been in the business long enough to have learned thoroughly the rudiments of the game as the fine points and the number of satisfied East Liverpool customers who have dealt with the Andrews company are willing to testify to that.

Andrews trucking is safe and satisfactory in every respect, regardless of what you're having hauled. Andrews' service thinks—it is not a merely mechanical effort.

And the years of experience behind the firm has acquainted it with the principles that has made it a leader in its own line in the East Liverpool district.

Glenn Signs Tell the World

Perhaps you have something to sell which, you believe, needs little or no advertising because it is so good. And you sit back and wait for the customer to come to you. Perhaps business is fairly good.

And yet you wonder why the other fellow with, perhaps, something not quite as good as you, sells probably twice as much. Advertising in one form or another.

And if you do have something good, advertise it and see how business picks up.

The Glenn Sign company provides an advertising medium here that rates very highly because of the superiority of the company's work.

They do signs of all kinds, show cards, window placards, intricate lettering of any variety or "hurry up" jobs for and special occasion—and they can always be depended upon to do it right.

Truck lettering is a specialty.

You.

Flowers are suitable for all occasions, parties, dinners, holidays, the wife's birthday—every and any event that should be suitably remembered—and the Riverview greenhouses, Anderson boulevard, pledges itself to do its share in making these affairs occasions to be long and happily remembered.

All possible skill and experience, as well as untiring efforts, have been expended to make Riverview flowers the best that can be produced under any circumstances.

However, it is absurd, really, to think of flowers as something to be purchased only on special occasions.

Why not a fresh bouquet daily to brighten the home, add cheer to the family circle? Or a potted plant now and then to enliven a dull corner?

The Riverview people will be glad to show you through their greenhouses at any time and if there is something you want a telephone call will bring it to you.

DEPENDABILITY M'ELRAVY'S AIM

Local Auto Repair Firm
Known for Efficiency.

There are few automobile repair shops any better known for efficiency and satisfaction of service than the McElravy Brothers company, 114 South Market street.

In the first place, the McElravy Brothers started right by proving that their shop possessed the ability to do the work which they were undertaking. In other words, if a motorist took his car to the McElravy garage and wanted the motor cleaned out or the brakes relined, he could be certain that when he got his machine back again, he could depend on it that the motor WAS clean and the brakes WERE relined in the best possible manner.

Dependability, then, is one of the outstanding attributes of this Market street firm which, after all, is something to look for in automobile repair work.

The McElravy wrecker, it might be mentioned, has proved of invaluable service to hundreds of stranded auto owners around this district.

Winlands Cop Intermediate Title In Washington Pa. Tourney

Lindell's Scoring Feature

He and Witherow Named On All-tourney Team.

Winning four consecutive games in performances that left no doubt as to their superiority over their own particular field, the intermediates, the Winlands Brothers Lumber company quint, of East Liverpool, composed largely of former high school players, emerged as champions in their own division in the third annual tri-state tourney which finished Saturday night in Washington, Pa.

The Winlands picked off the Pol Jansee Ex-Highs, 35-18; Waynesburg, 26-11; Washington City Restaurants, 35-12; and, in the title game, the Lewis Ave Stars of Canonsburg, 26-21, to cop the championship.

The City Restaurants, whom the Winlands chalked off the list in the semi-finals, is one of the best combines in the Washington district. They are known better here, perhaps, as the City Little Five. In 1926 they won 105 straight games until the East Liverpool Buckeyes stopped them in the tournament.

The Canonsburg five, which met the locals in the final, was made up of former Canonsburg high school players who won the championship of their own high school district this fall but lost in the W. P. I. A. L. play-off.

They put up such striking resistance against the Ceramics that it was questionable for a time in the final as to whether the Winlands would come through. The Potters had a 15-9 lead at the half but this had been wiped away and the Canonsburg lads were on top, 19-18, at the end of the third period. They made it 21-18 with four minutes to go when the East Liverpool offense, which has been the most striking feature of the tourney, began to function again and, as they held the opposition without further scoring, the local lads ran their string of points to 26.

With a total score of 42 points, Howard Lindell, forward, topped the point makers. He rolled up 39 of those 42 counters in three games and then dropped out to three in the wind-up, although this may be accounted for, largely as a result of his effort toward building up a defense for the Canonsburg drive which threatened for a time to wreck the locals' title dreams.

Lindell and Witherow landed places on the first all-tournament team, intermediate division, Lindell at a forward and Witherow at a guard. Other selections included Manning of Canonsburg, forward; Janoski, Mosen, center, and Dorriyott, Washington, guard.

The East Liverpool Ceramics, who were defeated by the Five Ponies of Washington in their first game, derive consolation from the fact that the Ponies went on to win the title in the junior division.

The Question Marks, another local entry in the intermediate division, bowed to the Koshers club of Charlestown in their first game, too, but the Koshers tumbled to the Canonsburg team.

America's Ryder Cup Hopes Ready to Invade British Links

These men were picked from the best of American golfers to represent the United States as the Ryder Cup team. The team will sail for England on the S. S. Mauretania to engage with the pick of Great Britain's professional linksmen as well as to play for the British open championship. The Ryder Cup matches will be played over the Moortown course near Leeds April 26 and 27.

Horton Smith Faces Problem In Wood Shafts

He Uses Steel But British Bars Everything But Hickory.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Horton Smith may be the man of the hour in competitive golf but it is altogether possible that he will be just another Smith in the city directory after they bring in the final returns from the British open championship, if you care for a dispassionate diagnosis furnished by fellow-members of the Ryder Cup team today. He has the shots, they concede. But it seems that he may not have the clubs. Smith, they say, is something less than extraordinary when he uses the hickory shafts demanded by British convention—and maybe I mean prejudice.

His implied lack of efficiency with hickory, I suspect, is largely a matter of orientation. Give a golfer like Smith plenty of time and no doubt he will play you a very nice shot with an umbrella handle. It just happens that he has less time right now than a man en route down an elevator shaft without the elevator.

The team sails for England on Wednesday and they tell me that Smith has played only once with all-hickory clubs. That once, it appears, was away too often. He finished in a desperate fight for fifteenth place at Belleair and thereupon decided that the next time he played with hickory would be when he had to.

During an otherwise miraculous winter season, this was the only tournament in which Smith looked like any other Smith. He is a confirmed addict of steel shafts and the attempted transition to hickory apparently played pranks with his timing. The difference between the feel of hickory and steel and even the difference between hickory and the combination hickory and bamboo, of which American wood shafts are made, can best be illustrated by saying that one cannot "sense" the head of the club so well when all-hickory is in use. Johnny Farrell, the national open champion, had an indifferent winter season and he is said to attribute his showing to the fact that he was using all-hickory in preparation for the British event and couldn't seem to get the feel of his clubs.

If it took Farrell all winter to get nowhere with hickory, it would appear to be possible for Horton Smith to arrive approximately at the same place in the few weeks at his disposal.

Of course, when one is in Rome, as they say, one is under obligation to follow traffic and naturally England's golf code is its own to do with as it will. At the same time, it is only fair to point out that an Englishman can bring his clubs to our championships without finding it necessary either to undergo the blindfold test or to furnish a letter of recommendation from his pastor. But, then, we seem to need no technical aid in preserving our prestige in golf.

Whereas, England not only gets most technical but also a very average trouncing nearly every time out. The result is that it begins to look as though it will run out of championships before it runs out of reprisals. The first of these was instituted years ago. Walter Travis won the British amateur title, so they up and barred the Schenectady putter. Everything was just lovely for a while but Jock Hutchinson had to spoil it all by winning the British open, which left them no alternative. They had to put the bowser on the slotted iron.

The next to go was the steel shaft. It didn't mean a thing to anybody in particular; many of the pros don't use this type of club, anyhow. But the British were taking no chances. Not unlike the stray pin that so many people find irresistible, it was a thing that might come in handy some day.

Yanks Get Stormy Send-off.
OKLAHOMA CITY, April 8.—The New York Yankees were glad to leave here for Tulsa this morning for the record crowd of 18,000 spectators who saw yesterday's game with the locals became so enthusiastic that they tore Babe Ruth's uniform to shreds, almost upset his automobile, and nearly wrecked the entire entourage of the world's champions in a wild and wooly cushion fight. The Yanks won the ball game, 13 to 5.

In Training Camps

Braves in Norfolk.

NORFOLK, Va., April 8.—The Boston Braves were here today for a three-day stay which will complete their 1929 spring training program. They will play a few games with the New Haven club, as a final polishing test before taking the journey back to Boston.

Red Sox Battle Reading.

RICHMOND, Va., April 8.—Bill Carrigan's Boston Red Sox arrived here today for a series with the Reading team. Reading has a good outfit and the Red Sox will have to play real ball to beat them. The Sox came here from Norfolk where they cleaned up a series with the New Haven club.

Keep Strings on Rockies.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 8.—The New York Giants, who play the Washington Senators here today, are releasing none of their rookies. Manager John J. McGraw announced that the battery of Floyd Johnson and Joe Wintry would be sent to Springfield, Mass.; and that the Giants' farm at Bridgeport, Conn., would get outfielder Art Veltman, former bat boy; infielder Eddie Marshall and a pitcher to be selected later.

The Giants celebrated McGraw's fifty-eighth birthday yesterday by beating Memphis, 6 to 5.

Phillies' A's Resume Today

PHILADELPHIA, April 8.—The Athletics and Phillies will resume the city series here today after the Sunday layoff. The A's took the first game Saturday. While the National league entry rested yesterday, the A's dropped over to Baltimore where they copped a pitcher's battle, 3 to 2.

Al Corbett Tops Valley A. C. Mitt Program At Wellsville

Cleveland Star Matched With Chet Smallwood, Akron in "All-Ohio" Bill Feature Monday; Edwards, Davis, Sambo Brown in Action.

PROVING that he can "patronize home industries" as well as the next one, Matchmaker Ray Foutts will present an "All-Ohio" boxing program next Monday night at the Valley A. C. show in Wellsville and the only is headed by no less a fighter than Al Corbett, the Cleveland star.

Foutts announced today that he had definitely completed negotiations for the appearance of the nationally known Cleveland star in the eight-round main event against Chet Smallwood, Akron, who has been thrilling boxing fans in the Akron, Canton, Youngstown and Pittsburgh districts.

this winter. It will size up largely as a meeting between veteran and new comer, with the latter having just as much chance as the former, despite Corbett's high priced reputation.

Preddey Edwards, Chester welterweight, who has developed to a point where he can mingle with the good boys, is paired off with Kid Ruff of Canton, a 150-pound "tough guy," in the six-round semi-final.

Kennedy Davis, of East Liverpool draws Maxie Miller of Canton, in one of the four-rounders, and Sambo Brown, that dusky fightin' man from Ironville, comes back in another against Young Pickens of East Liverpool.

Neph Shows Stuff

HOUSTON, Tex., April 8.—Art Neft was definitely qualified today to do his bit on the "Cubs" firing line following his performance against the Houston Buffs yesterday. The Bruins won, 12 to 3. Neft pitched only four innings but he showed plenty in that time. Hornsby and Wilson featured with home runs.

Wells Seeks Third Ohio Title in Canton Tourney

East Liverpool Golfer, Twice Champ of Buckeye Amateurs, Has Been Strong Contender Since He Liked Hasmann In 1923.

CANTON, O., Apr. 8.—Joe Wells, the East Liverpool sledge gun, so well known in the Canton district that he needs no introduction, will be among those present at the Ohio amateur championship next July 8 over the Brookside Country club course.

And the two-time Ohio champion—Wells won in 1922 and 1924—is reported to be preparing for a big year. If he is as good this summer as in the years he won, and at other times when he was a strong contender, Wells will give some of the visitors a lot of worry before he succumbs.

Wells is known in golf circles throughout the country as a tournament player who brooks no interference, who is a master craftsman, who has the golf temperament and who is able to take care of himself under pressure and in fast company.

Just now Joe Wells is rounding out a score of years in tournament golf.

The year Jack Munro, now of Alliance, won the Ohio crown at Toledo, Wells went to the semi-finals. The result of the Wells-Munro match was, in fact, the finish, for the winner there would draw a more or less soft match the following day in the finals.

The year that marked Wells' entry in the state tournament he ran into Eddie Hasmann, then a Cleveland caddy. And Wells won. Again in 1924 the Cleveland caddy and Wells met, and Wells was again the victor.

For the third time the Buckeye tourney ment title rested between this pair in 1925, but that year Hasmann won over the veteran. The following year, again at Toledo, Wells went to the finals, but was displaced by Parker Campbell of that city.

Only last season Wells won the Allegheny invitation tournament, which was his third triumph in that event. Prior to Wells' entry into Ohio golf, his activities were confined largely to Virginia and West Virginia and western Pennsylvania courses. He also competed extensively at the Pincushion jousts.

After he entered the Ohio amateur with such a crash, Wells went after a bigger game, and in 1923 went to the quarter finals in the national amateur at Philadelphia, losing to the veteran Max Marston of Merion. Twice Wells has qualified in the national open.

For several years Wells has held the East Liverpool Country club title, and generally leads the Ceramic City golf team in its inter-club competitions.

However, Joe Wells won't be the only former Ohio champion entered in the lists at the Brookside layout this summer. Besides Wells, there will be the veteran Harold Weber of Toledo, who has been burning up the Florida courses this winter. Then there will be the stocky Munro, whose forte is driving 'em a mile, but who also knows how to shoot his irons.

Out of Toledo will come Parker Campbell—he of the perpendicular stroke; and Phelps Beidan, also of Toledo, another of those versatile fellows who never knows when he is licked. Not to mention Bill Deuschle of Columbus, who disposed of Weber last summer at Youngstown.

Take a gang of ex-champions and champions like that and mix them through a field of other sharpshooters and someone is going to know they've been in a golf tournament.

POTTERS SUPPLY NINE TO MEET

Potters Supply baseball club will hold a meeting tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the Potters Supply.

The following players are asked to attend: Martin, Kinsey, Barlow, Justice, Roberts, O'Hanlon, Campbell, Bourne, Haight, Horgan, Lockne, Caste, McKee, Hildridge, McClain and any others interested, as well as those who played with the Supply in the former community league.

Bucks Battle Georgians.

MACON, Ga., April 8.—Columbus Senators were to play the first of their two-game series with the local club of the South Atlantic league here today, having arrived here late yesterday from Jacksonville, Fla. The Bucks are still smarting from the unexpected defeat at the hands of the Jacksonville Tars, Saturday, and are itching for revenge. While here, Manager Liebold expects to close a deal for another catcher of experience, but nothing definite has been decided on the matter.

Forbidden Door

Story of Adventurous Youth, Mystery, Fortune and a Girl.

By Herman Landon

The apartment, more commodious than those in the main part of the hotel, consisted of a large parlor, bedroom and bath. It was furnished in wickers, with plenty of cozy corners and decorative cushions, and it was done in light color tones that had a friendly and pleasing effect on the eye.

Closing the door behind him, Hannan reached out his hand for the button on the wall that would cause a softly shaded light to spring up in three or four places. For a rover accustomed to camp fires and oil lamps, even this little touch of novelty had a thrill. You merely touched a button, and, presto—

But nothing happened. "Twice he pressed the switch, but no light flashed up in response. There was something wrong. In the dark he picked his way to the telephone, meaning to notify the office. The receiver as he put it to his ear, gave forth only the hollow silence of a dead wire. Puzzled, he ran his hand along the cord, and then, suddenly, he stood tense and alert. He knew instantly that, whatever might be the matter with the lights, it was no mere accident that had put the telephone out of commission. The loose end of wire in his hand told plainly that somebody had been up to mischief.

For what purpose? His hand went instinctively to the inside pocket of his dinner jacket. It was a lucky thing that he had remembered to transfer the envelope when he dressed for dinner. With eyes and ears he scanned the darkness and silence. The darkness to Hannan was a friendly thing, something which he had learned to understand. Often at night, in jungles and on plains he had trained his senses to apprehend the slightest sounds and movements. But there was neither sound nor movement in this room, only the noises of the streets reaching this high-perched eyrie in tones remote and subdued.

Silently, with nerves atingle, he moved forward a little. Still there was no sign of a strange presence in the room, nothing to account for the deadened lights and the severed telephone wire. He moved a few steps farther, the run under his feet muffling his footfalls. His fumbling hand came in contact with a lamp, a small, bright-headed affair on the mantel. He touched the bulb and discovered that it hung loosely in the socket. Evidently it had been unscrewed just far enough to break the electric contact. All he had to do was to screw it back firmly, and immediately the bulb flashed into a soft radiance. Investigation showed that it was the same with other lamps. A few twists sufficed to turn on the light.

"Now that's queer," said Hannan to himself. "Somebody did that on purpose. But why—"

He broke off on a mutter of surprise. He saw his Gladstone bag on the floor, its contents scattered in confusion on all sides. He lifted his resentful eyes and looked across the floor. Back there in the corner was his suitcase, and he saw at a glance that it had been handled just as roughly. His suits, shirts and collars had been thrown helter-skelter. And all over the room there were signs that it had been subjected to a thorough and turbulent search.

Hannan fixed the litter with a vengeful look, as if he would have liked to inflict punishment on the perpetrator of the rowdiness. One thought, however, gave him a feeling of relief. He knew what the searcher had been after.

"The sneak was out of luck," he told himself. "He must have put in a busy hour while I was down to dinner. Didn't take any chances on an interruption, either. He cut the telephone wire and fixed the globe so the lights couldn't be put on in a hurry. Careful, I'll say. And all that bull-bulldozing over a letter! Guess I'd better read it before something else happens."

Without stopping to clear up the disorder Hannan sat down and lighted a cigarette. Again, as he took the envelope from his pocket, a feeling of reverential awe took hold of him. The curtain was about to rise on the secret which Winthrop Gaston Martenet had guarded so jealously during his lifetime. What sort of revelation would it prove to be?

He turned the envelope over and studied the red seal bearing his grandfather's initials on the back. His fingers trembled slightly as he broke it.

He drew out the inclosure. The topmost line on the large sheet showed that the letter had been written at Valhalla Notch a few months before his grandfather's death. To his surprise it was rather brief, although the sprawling handwriting filled most of the paper.

After all the stir it had created, he had expected a more lengthy communication. But then, he recalled, his grandfather had possessed the knack of saying much in a few words. His eyes lingered solemnly over each word as he read the astonishing epistle:

My Dear Hannan—A word to a Martenet is sufficient. Do not, under any circumstances, attempt to open the iron door until the clock stops. Let me add a word of solemn warning. Beware of this man!

Then followed a crude pen and ink sketch representing a man's face. Last of all came Winthrop Gaston Martenet's tall and kinky signature.

In stupefaction Hannan stared at the writing and the subjoined sketch. His first impression was a sense that something was lacking, a word of affection, or sentiment from his grandfather. There was nothing of that kind, unless the opening salutation was to be so construed. Yet the letter was characteristic of the man who had written it. Winthrop Gaston Martenet had been a man who seldom voiced his sentiments, who kept his feelings sternly under restraint. Yet, was Hannan's thought, he might have thrown off that austere restraint just for once.

Again he groped through the letter. "A word to a Martenet is sufficient." Here was another characteristic touch. His grandfather had always cherished a high conception of the honor of the Martenets, not to mention their judgment. He had felt, when he wrote this astounding letter, that his injunction would carry all the weight of an obligation of honor. But the rest was not only perplexing, but baffling as well. Where was the iron door that figured in this amazing adjuration?

Where was the clock? Hannan had never heard of these things. He stared at the heavily underscored sentence which told him there was a somewhere where he must not attempt to open until a certain clock stopped. It was a command and a warning in one, the whole wrapped in mysteries and sealed with the Martenet code of honor. He would obey the injunction, of course, should the iron door and the clock ever materialize. But why—where—?

Here Hannan began to feel a little dazed. He needed something to steady his mind, and so he looked at the sketch above the signature. This, at any rate, was something real and tangible, a thing of lines, curves and shadings. It was not a very artistic sketch, looking very crude and amateurish at first glance. Yet, as he gazed at it, the uncouth and rugged lines assumed character and personality. It began to appear that Winthrop Gaston Martenet, jack of many trades, had been something of an artist as well. At least, he had succeeded in putting a great deal of life into these crude scrawls. The forehead, the eyes, the ears, the mouth, the mold of the chin, all became real and vital as Hannan studied them. Should he ever come face to face with him, he was positive he would recognize the man of the sketch.

Who was the man? Evidently some one his grandfather had known only by sight, or he would have given him a name and some information about him. As it was, he had only drawn his likeness at the bottom of the letter and warned Hannan to be on his guard against him. Winthrop Gaston Martenet must have had a particular reason for uttering such a warning. His judgment of character had always been accurate. He had never been known to alarm himself needlessly. If he said this man was dangerous, then the man must be dangerous indeed.

Yet the face looked harmless enough. The features appeared to be those of a mild-mannered, good natured, rather insignificant individual. Still, the more Hannan looked at it the stronger grew his feeling that his grandfather had given him an excellent piece of advice when he said, "Beware of this man."

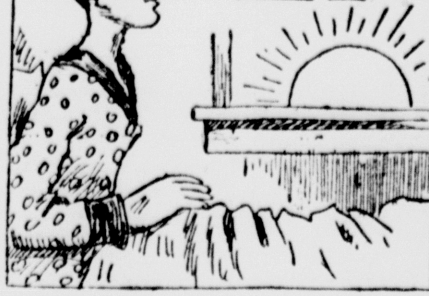

His imagination began to weave fancies around the sketch. A sinister quality crept into the bold and awkward strokes that formed the features. The face seemed to take on an expression of subtle and cold-blooded villainy. It might have been the face of a murderer, and arch-demon.

33 CONVERTED AT SALVATION ARMY RALLIES

Brigadier W. H. Heft
Of Cleveland in Pulpit.

THREE SERMONS

"Eternity" Sunday Night
Topic of Visiting Officer.

Aroused by the intensive and illuminating messages of Brigadier William Henry Heft, of Cleveland, who has charge of the social work of the Salvation Army in north-eastern Ohio, 33 persons took initial steps towards the Christian life in the West Third street citadel Sunday.

So enthusiastic did the service become last night that the visiting official, who was accompanied by Captain and Mrs. Frederick Johannson, also of Cleveland, was delayed until a late hour before starting on their return trip to the Forest City.

Eighteen persons made the decision at last night's service and 13 in that held in the afternoon. On Saturday night when he initially spoke two persons accepted the invitation given.

At all of the services, Captain and Mrs. Johannson sang and contributed instrumental selections.

"We live in a world in which all

MEXICAN REBEL ROUT ENDS IN SLAUGHTER

A bare shadow of the movement which three months ago threatened to engulf the existing government in Mexico emerged from a four-day battle in southern Chihuahua. General Calles (center) handled his troops to such advantage that he was able to report many hundreds of rebels killed. General Almazan (left) caught the retreating rebels near Jimenez (shown above) at a stop where they could not move forward on account of a burned railroad bridge. The federal fire is reported to have mowed down hundreds. General Miguel M. Acosta (below, right), is shown reporting successful operations in the south to his chief (left), President Portes Gil.

things pass away," asserted the brigadier last night. His theme was "Eternity."

"But all are going where everything is eternal," he said. "And where and how we shall spend it depends on what we do here. We must look to Jesus for help in time and eternity. If you would be safe in both, seek Christ.

"This side of eternity is a departure; the other side is an arrival. If one is not cleansed by Christ's death the arrival there will not be a homecoming for him or her.

"To those accepting Him, He has made the declaration that where He is there all so doing will be also. Because He lives so all, believing in Him, shall likewise live."

First United Presbyterian.

"Christian people should have such a vision of the world's need for the gospel as to make them broken-hearted," said the Rev. Dr. C. L. Eicher, of Chicago, at the First United Presbyterian church yesterday morning. "It will be of little good to us unless we are broken-hearted. That point reached we will do all we can to send it to them."

"Have you realized that by your apathy, indifference and failure to sense the need of those in the world's darkness that you are limiting God?" he asked. "Prayer is as unlimited as God is unlimited."

He read letters from persons in various mission fields.

In kindred vein he spoke to the Senior and Junior Christian Endeavor societies at the First Presbyterian church last night.

African Methodist Episcopal.

Substitution of the spiritual for the material would result in a hundred-fold benefit for the individual in this life and guarantee eternal existence for him in the hereafter, said the Rev. William M. Truss, D. D., of Pittsburgh, Pa., presiding elder of the Youngstown district of the North-Ohio conference, at a quarterly meeting in the African Methodist Episcopal church, West Ninth street, yesterday morning. His subject was "Selling Out."

Last night he held a similar service at Lee's chapel in Wellsville.

Both services were preliminaries to a meeting of his district conference which will convene for a three-day session in Ravenna tomorrow. Bishop W. H. Hurd, of Philadelphia, who has charge of the Third Episcopal area comprising churches in Ohio, West Virginia and two conferences in Pennsylvania, will attend.

The East Liverpool church will be represented by The Rev. J. D. Sinclair, pastor, and J. A. Good. They will leave for Ravenna on Tuesday morning.

Church of Nazarene.

Arriving in the city early yesterday morning from his home in Brooklyn, N. Y., the Rev. G. Howard Rowe, preached twice at the Church of Nazarene Sunday, the services inaugurating a two-weeks series of meetings.

The Rev. Mr. Rowe is being assisted by Burl Sparks of Seymour, Ind., as musical director and singer.

Previous to a week's rest the Rev. Mr. Rowe held a series of meetings in Columbus.

He spoke in the morning yesterday on "The Influence of the Holy Spirit" and in the evening on "The Potentialities of a Soul."

He noted initially the existence of the soul and declared it to be immortal. How it would eventually in eternity be in heaven or hell was declared by him.

"The cares of the material world have made for the manifest neglect of the human soul," he said. "In our care for our bodily demands we have forgotten the things of the spirit." He called for a changed viewpoint and the emphasizing of that which would merit salvation.

TEXAS PASSERS NATIONAL CHAMPS

CHICAGO, April 8.—The champion high school basketball team of the United States today was enroute to Athens, Texas, to receive the plaudits of the homefolks and the entire citizenry of the lone star state.

The young giant rangers from the little Athens high school clinched the coveted national title Saturday night when they triumphed over Clarkson high of Oklahoma City in the final game of the annual tournament at the University of Chicago. The score was 25 to 21.

Shires May Get Back
DALLAS, Tex., April 8.—The White Sox were back in their old stamping ground today after a three-game stand at Wichita Falls where they swept the series against the Texas league spudders. The hose copped yesterday's finale, 8 to 4. It is rumored that Art Shires, suspended first baseman, will make overtures today with the hope of being taken back in the fold.

Indians Spank Robins.
NEW ORLEANS, April 8.—A nine inning practice game between the regulars and Yannis was Manager Peckinpough's program for the Cleveland Indians today. Behind steady pitching by Joe Shaute, who now seems destined to pitch the opener against Detroit, a week from tomorrow the Indians took the Robins, 5 to 1.

25-FOOT CREST IS ATTAINED IN RIVER HERE

Stream is Falling Two Tenths of Foot an Hour.

20 FEET AT NOON

Pittsburgh Engineer
Chief Plans Inspection Trip.

The Ohio river here today was falling two tenths foot an hour, after reaching a crest of 25.1 feet at mid-night Saturday. The stage at noon at Dam No. 8 was 20.6 feet. The Allegheny and Monongahela rivers are also receding slowly.

The steamer Liberty will arrive here tonight, enroute to Wheeling, W. Va., from Pittsburgh.

The J. H. Hillman towing six barges of coal, passed here Sunday, enroute to Weirton, W. Va. The Labelle, with nine empties, and the Williams, with one and two barges of scrap iron, passed here yesterday for Pittsburgh.

The C. F. Douglas, enroute to Point Pleasant, W. Va., and the Ackard, with six barges of pig iron, bound for Mingo Junction, also passed here yesterday.

Light on Lock Walls Changed.
As a result of the recent conference of masters and pilots of the Pittsburgh district with Colonel Jarvis J. Bain, corps of engineers, United States army, instructions have been issued by Colonel Bain to discontinue the existing light on the walls of Lock No. 2, Allegheny, which are in boxes. Open lights will be installed of the same character as now in use on the walls of locks on the Ohio river. Instructions also were issued that hereafter the slip containing "running orders" issued to masters and pilots of passing steamers will also contain the information as to the gauge, heights or stage of the water in the nearest approach to the next lock.

Colonel Bain left Pittsburgh today to inspect the Allegheny river in the interest of navigation, flood control and power development. It will be the first of its kind ever made on that stream since he intends to go beyond Oil City and see how far navigation is possible on an open river. On account of the recent heavy rains over the watershed of the Allegheny river there will be an ideal stage, which will possibly permit the furthest trip north on that stream of any vessel in more than a generation.

Members of River Party.
Those who accompanied Colonel

Bain were United States Engineer E. H. Beechley, Dr. Roland E. Morgan, Ira M. Smith, T. W. McCullough of New Castle and George D. Stuart of Tereruntum. Captain Louis Cook of Tionesta, one of the few remaining pilots of rafts and considered an expert in his line, will be at the wheel and Earl Gregory will be in charge of the engine.

Engineers Make Survey.
Federal engineers of the Cincinnati district are making surveys of the Licking and Whitewater rivers in the interest of navigation, flood control and power development. Topography of reservoir sites also is being considered. It was said at the same time that an intensive study has been made of the Miami river to determine the feasibility of power development in that section below the flood control works of the Miami Conservancy district.

JOLIET HAS EDGE ON PIN TITLE

CHICAGO, April 8.—With only one squad of thirty-two teams remaining tonight to close the team event of the American bowling congress, chances are that the Hub recreation of Joliet, Ill., will draw down the major bowling championship of the world. About 500 bowlers are still on the schedule in the singles and doubles and from this army of legions there might appear a champion.
